Toolkit production	Carolyn-Castro Donlan has edited and drafted the SA toolkit. The toolkit has been distributed to the group for review. The group will send Colleen Labelle content and information so that this outline will start to provide substance. The group agrees that the document should remain a 'living document' and that every institution/hospital that will use the toolkit must tailor the content and information to their practice. Updates: The toolkit should be simple and the group believes that it should contain more graphics. The toolkit draft will eventually be sent to someone with graphic skills. We need to make sure to include content on general well women visits, screening, and prenatal care. The language should be appropriate for all aspects of childbirth. Using "street-names' for these drugs might be highly	All
